

A thick, red, hand-painted brushstroke that starts on the left, curves upwards to a peak, and then curves downwards to the right, ending with some visible texture and feathering.

Morland